BOILER TECH SCHOOL

Allied Boiler's "Boiler Tech School" is an intensive two day hands on school which instructs students on actual operating boilers. We feel that this method of learning is superior to using classrooms equipped with simulators. Each of our instructors has over twenty years experience working with boilers and control systems in the field. It's hard to find that kind of expertise in a boiler school.

The school is divided into two days. The first day concentrates on safety, boiler designs, burners and controls, installation, components, system operation, testing and efficiency improvements. The second day is devoted to troubleshooting the boiler systems along with basic combustion tuning.

Cost of the school is $675.00 per person. Lunch is provided both days.

Next school date: October 16th & 17th, 2007 Time: 9:00-4:00

Please call us to reserve your placement. Class is limited to 15 persons.
